Triad President Jeff Cox Selected for David Evans Enterprises, Inc., Board of Directors

PORTLAND, Ore. – Triad President Jeff Cox has been elected to David Evans Enterprises, Inc.’s Board of Directors and appointed a vice president of the professional services consulting firm of David Evans and Associates, Inc. (DEA). Headquartered in Portland, Ore., DEEI is the parent company of DEA and the staffing firm Flux Resources, LLC. Triad is a division of DEA, having merged with the firm on Aug. 3, 2015. Cox was nominated to the board of the parent company by DEEI Chairman Al Barkouli, Ph.D., P.E., and subsequently elected by shareholders.

About the nomination, Barkouli said, “One of the key strategic reasons for our merger with Triad is the talented, enthusiastic and professional team they bring the combined firm. Jeff is a great example of this. He brings experience, wisdom and great leadership to our DEEI board. I am thrilled that Jeff is now on our board and look forward to his contributions and leadership at DEEI’s highest level.”

Cox said, “Being nominated to DEEI’s board was another tangible example of the genuine respect the company’s leadership has for Triad. It also demonstrates their ongoing willingness to learn from us and how the merger is making Triad and DEA stronger together. Finally, serving on the board underscores how DEA and Triad are collaboratively working to provide high-value, professional design services to traditional Triad clients and to expand our reach to DEA’s wider circle of clients.”
